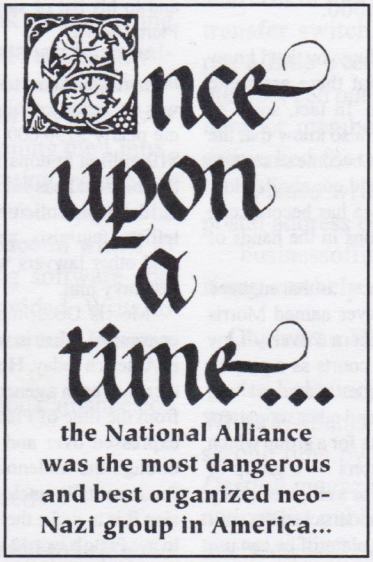
SPLC Fairy Tale

"The National Alliance... once upon a time the most dangerous and best organized neo-Nazi group in America..." Thus begins the latest story about our Alliance from the Southern Poverty Law Center (SPLC), literally presented to the SPLC's aging Jewish donor list as a soap opera entitled "As the Nazis Turn." Despite their multimillion dollar slush fund, and their ability to hire competent writers away from other Jewish publications like the New York Times, their "journalism" remains one-sided, sensationalistic, unconvincing, and puerile — more like a moralistic fairy tale than even a soap opera.



Jewish groups' portrayals of the Alliance often have little more substance than children's fairy tales.

Despite their lack of respect for the truth, or even for the most elementary standards of good journalism, it's still interesting to see that our enemies, who had declared the National Alliance officially "dead" two years ago, have taken notice of the recent change in our fortunes. The SPLC will publish a feature article, "Triumph of the Will," on the comeback of the National Alliance in its Spring 2015 Intelligence Report, the slick, quarterly magazine that claims to be the nation's preeminent periodical monitoring the "radical right" in the U.S. It is mailed free to law enforcement agencies, courts, journalists, scholars, community activists, as well as to paid subscribers, and will provide wide publicity for the fact that our Alliance is not "dead" at all, but on the rebound.

The SPLC's financial supporters also receive the magazine so they can be kept aware of the "threat" of "dangerous" patriotic groups like the National Alliance. In 1999 the Intelligence Report published an 11-page attack on the Alliance, full of exaggerations and portraying our organization as a huge, well-armed, well-financed, multinational octopus with terroristic tentacles reaching almost everywhere: outright lies that only the most suggestible people could believe — but good enough to scare the SPLC's donors into sending more money to fight "hate."

William Pierce on Lawyers and the SPLC

The following transcription is from an American Dissident Voices broadcast from 16 years ago. It bears repeating here. Little has changed in Dr. Pierce's description of professional barrator Morris Dees and his SPLC except that now the SPLC has a $250,000,000 tax-exempt war chest with which to fight "hate groups" and bankrupt them, instead of only $70,000,000.

I should begin today by telling you that I know from personal experience that there are some decent men who are lawyers. In fact, some of my best friends are lawyers. I also know that the legal profession as a whole has become so corrupt that it is a threat to our race and our civilization. The judicial system in America has become one of the most destructive weapons in the hands of our enemies....

A similar misuse of the courts...is that engaged in most notoriously by a lawyer named Morris Dees and the so-called Southern Poverty Law Center. Morris Dees uses the courts as a prop to assist him in raising money from a large mailing list of feminists, Jews, leftists, and other supporters of the Clinton agenda. He looks for a group which is unpopular with his supporters — a group of anti-abortionists, for example, or a religious group with a doctrine his Jewish supporters consider anti-Semitic — then he looks for a plaintiff he can use as a straw man for filing a lawsuit against the target group. Then he sends out fund appeals to his list of feminists, Jews, and leftists, in which he says: "I am suing such-and-such a group, and I intend to bankrupt them and put them out of business, but I need your help. This lawsuit is very expensive. Send me your largest possible donation today, and I will shut this group down for you."

And he has built up a bank account of more than $70 million in this fashion during the past few years, because he always brings in far more money with his fund appeals than he actually spends on litigation against the target groups.

Using the courts in this fashion is called barratry, and lawyers who engaged in barratry used to be disbarred — but not [any more]. [Today,] Morris Dees is a darling of the legal establishment. He is invited to speak to groups of lawyers. He is given awards by bar associations. Other lawyers admire him for his success at barratry. They envy him for the amount of money he has made at it. And Dees, unlike the group of abortionists who won the lawsuit in Portland recently and unlike most of the gun-control advocates filing lawsuits against gun manufacturers, doesn't even pretend to be anything but a barrator. He brags publicly about it. When he sued me, on a legal theory so far-fetched you wouldn't believe it, because I had purchased some real estate from a church that was one of his targets, he bragged to the newspapers and to his list of supporters: "I'm going to shut Pierce down."

Well, he didn't shut me down, but he got his lawsuit against me tried in a court where the judge was a Clinton appointee, and it ended up costing me nearly $150,000, while Dees raked in nearly $10 million in donations from his supporters. At the moment he is suing another unpopular church in Idaho and soliciting donations from his list of leftists, feminists, and Jews to support the suit. And other lawyers will not condemn him. They just envy him.

Morris Dees, more than any other lawyer, epitomizes what is wrong with our legal system in America today. He helps us to understand why there has been a general feeling among our people, from the time of Plato to the present — a feeling expressed over and over by our writers down through the millennia —that there is something fundamentally unclean about men whose profession it is to make the worse cause seem the better, to use Plato's words, or to prove that white is black and black is white, according as they are paid, to use Swift's words. The noble Romans considered such a profession to be un-Roman, and today we consider it to be un-Aryan. Our legal system has become a system of lawyers, run entirely by lawyers, solely for the enrichment of lawyers. It is a malignant system which threatens the freedom of us all and which does not have the will to cure itself. It is because of this that the cure will have to come from outside the legal system and will have to be a very painful cure indeed. Someday, in a new society, we will have to build a new legal system. Let us not make the same mistakes we made — and that the Romans made before us. Let us build a system with adequate safeguards: a system to serve the race, not the lawyers. — Dr. William Pierce

We need courageous lawyers on our side. Members should do all they can to recruit any lawyer they consider to have the right stuff.

Audio Book Readers Needed

The National Office is looking for members with an excellent command of English and good voice skills who would be willing to volunteer to take on the considerable task of converting classic books of importance to racial-nationalists into audio book format. Volunteers should own or have access to a personal computer running the Linux, Mac, or Windows operating systems, a good quality computer microphone or headset, and a quiet space in which to record. Audio recording software and instructions will be provided. Write to our Correspondence Secretary, Vanessa Neubauer, at correspondence@nationalalliance.cc to arrange an audition.

Current Needs

Many items are needed to bring the functionality of our West Virginia facilities back to what it was a few years ago. Power tools, hand tools, a sturdy six-foot step ladder, and other items too numerous to mention here, new or used, will be most appreciated. New telephones, computers, printers, monitors, etc., will be needed as well.

Specialized computer and communications gear will be needed for the widely separated buildings on the hilly property, gear we'll have to special order — so donations to help us make those purchases would help, too.

One item that is going to be necessary is an emergency standby generator, at least 20 kW, fueled by propane, to keep the lights on and computers and other vital equipment in our main office building running when the power grid goes down. Dr. Pierce had a system with backup batteries for this purpose that he cobbled together in the late 1980s, but it is obsolete and no longer working. The cost of this generator, an automatic transfer switch, and installation will run a little over $5,000. One generous member can purchase this much-needed item, or members can make donations earmarked for this specific purpose.

Please write to us at our regular postal address or via email at businessoffice@natall.com

if you can help.

Chairman Williams Interviewed

In February, Chairman William White Williams was interviewed for the second time by Britain's Heritage and Destiny magazine, one of the leading nationalist publications in Europe. The interview will expose a large readership of racially aware Europeans to the Alliance's message and program.

Since a number of members have asked about Chairman Williams' military background, here is a portion of the interview which addresses that subject:

Q: The National Alliance under Dr. Pierce recruited quite a large number of former U.S. military personnel to its ranks. Do you see this continuing under your leadership? And can you tell us a bit about your own military background?

A: We'll continue to recruit military men, but, since the military is now little more than a giant multiracial/unisex social experiment that has effectively been purged of White "racists," it's hard to say to what extent that will affect our recruitment there. Less than half of the U.S. military now are White males.

I joined the U.S. Army in 1966 while still in high school, attended Infantry Officer Candidate School (OCS), and was commissioned a year later. After Airborne (parachute) and Special Forces training I served two tours in the Republic of Vietnam (RVN) with the 5th Special Forces Group, half of that time in an "A-Detachment" as our team's Executive Officer, leaving RVN with the rank of Captain.

The makers of the Double Agent Down Vietnam War documentary interviewed Will Williams about his part in a combat incident that changed the course of the war.

Last year I was interviewed for a television documentary, Double Agent Down, that was centered around activities in our camp on the Cambodian border in 1969. The producer, a former teammate, is selling the DVD online via amazon.com.

For military aficionados who might be interested in that, here's the link:

(Or just search for "Double Agent Down" on amazon.com) Sales of the DVD will commence next month.

Media Expanded

In late February, Media Director Kevin Strom recruited two members, Rosemary Pennington and Michael Olanich, to work as volunteer editors and expand the outreach of our National Vanguard online newsmagazine, www.nationalvanguard.org.

We have now more than quadrupled the number of news items, essays, and other stories being posted there, with a total of 32 stories being published during the last week alone. The items published range from classic works by William Pierce, Revilo Oliver, and others, many of them unavailable in digital form until now; to new columns, commentaries, humor, and fiction; and timely news items culled from the daily and alternative press, rewritten or with commentary written from our point of view.

It is very difficult to find volunteers with the dedication shown by these two members — those who, week in and week out, every day, devote a substantial part of each day meticulously crafting, formatting, finding illustrations, writing commentary for, and posting these stories. But it is only with such dedication that we can substantially increase our frequency of publication, and hence increase our audience.

More important still is maintaining the quality of the material we issue, even as we increase its frequency: Everything we publish must be literate, relevant, useful, emotionally and intellectually engaging — and done with style and flair. We must embody in ourselves, and in the impression we give of ourselves through our publications, the future society we want to build. Without this requisite quality, our media will not attract the audience of highly competent, idealistic, and intelligent men and women we need to build the Alliance.

All this is a difficult task, but a necessary one.

Writers Needed

Publishing multiple stories online every day, and re-launching our print magazine later this year, will require feature writers as well as editors. If you have written for National Vanguard or other professional-level publications in the past, or if your writing is up to that standard — if you have an in-depth understanding of National Alliance ideology — if you can create strikingly original work and express your ideas with passion, style, and perfect English — and if you want to take part in the awakening and rebirth of our people, send a writing sample to our Media Director at media@nationalalliance.cc

for consideration.

Recent Correspondence

From a French participant on our whitebiocentrism.com forum:

Having read Doctor William Luther Pierce's works, being in close agreement with his values and his thoughts, it is an honour to be here, among you today.

I live in Europe and, more specifically in France, I'm 53 years old and have campaigned for many years in various French nationalist movements since I was 16. I am married and have two sons (19 and 22 years old.) My wife shares the same views as me...

I left the Front National a few years ago when I discovered that Marine Le Pen betrayed her Volk (ethnic French White people...)

There is no structure, organization or any party that defends the ideas for which I fight, in France today. That is why I am under the obligation to look elsewhere for an organization that defends the same views as mine.

The National Alliance is the only current group whose thinking (to my mind) matches my deepest aspirations: i.e., to give priority to quality rather than quantity, the elite rather than mediocrity...

Racial Greetings from a land which is no longer mine.... I intend to join the National Alliance as a supporter (at least, as a first step)...

Orage, France

From Canada:

Dear National Alliance: I was on the politically incorrect discussion board on 4chan some years ago when someone posted the comic The Saga of White Will.... Being a young adolescent, I thought it was "cool" and "edgy" to read such underground literature, but that was the extent of my thoughts on the matter.

From there, I found the Dr. Pierce broadcasts, and, bit by bit, my mental fog began clearing up. I had been depressed and felt like life was meaningless before, but then I realized there were people who did not agree with today's society — and more importantly, these people made logical sense. And although it's illegal to express what I believe here, I long for a community and cause that I can belong to and agree with.

I have the form filled out and I'm sending the money order for one year of membership in advance.

Phillip, Canada

From South Carolina:

I have calculated how much in dues I have been withholding from the Alliance since January of 2004. I was paying $10 per month at that time. Twelve months at $10 a month should come to $120 per year; so January of '04 to January of this year is 11 years. Eleven times $120 comes to $1320. How do these figures match with yours?

Walt, South Carolina

Chairman Williams responds: Thank you, Walt. Your figures match mine just fine. It's former members like you coming back to us, catching up on back dues or paying ahead — and new ones like Phillip, paying ahead — that are helping tremendously to bring our organization back to what it was during the first Piercian era. We're solvent, but in need of operating capital. We deeply appreciate those, like you, who send us the dues you refused to send while the Alliance had gone off track; a most generous donation, and we'll put it to good use. But we do not expect all former members to catch up on 11 years of back dues — in fact back dues from long ago are forgiven. We start 2015 with a clean slate. If members coming back to us want to keep their old membership cards and member numbers, fine, just start over with your pledges as of January 1st, 2015. Or, for those who want new membership numbers and cards, simply reapply by printing out the applications available at www.natall.com

From Michigan:

Chairman Williams: I choose to maintain my member status and member number. I sent dues through 2014 a few days ago and here is an additional $80 to pay through April of 2015. I've spoken with other former members, told them you — a former Green Beret — are now in charge and Gliebe's out. They are all excited and will be covering their past dues immediately!

Congratulations on becoming Chairman and restoring our organization and moving forward to a progressive National-Socialist world. Let's go to work.

G.T,, Michigan

The next letter was sent as a resignation letter last year by an Arizona member disheartened by Erich Gliebe's abandonment of the Alliance's uncompromising ideology:

Dear Chairman Gliebe: After careful consideration I have decided to discontinue my monthly contribution (formerly member's dues). I have been associated with the National Alliance (NA) since 1996, so I feel you deserve a brief explanation. Simply put, I do not agree with some of your recent changes in direction and philosophy of the NA. In no particular order, here are the issues I disagree with:

Dissolving NA membership: this action essentially disbands the organizational structure Dr. Pierce founded the NA on and for which I joined. If we had problems with a few members, we should have tightened the membership vetting process to keep out misfits. Plus, we ought to have a zero tolerance and immediate termination for any violation of NA membership rules of conduct.

Selling the WV property: I attended three leadership conferences at the Hillsboro Headquarters while Dr. Pierce was alive. All three conferences were well attended and had inspiring speakers. Frankly, it was no more trouble for me to drive to Hillsboro from Charleston, WV, by rental car, than to fly into a big city airport, then find transportation to a downtown hotel. I found it relaxing driving the back roads of WV. I always felt invigorated after attending a leadership conference. So, I disagree with your opinion that the rural isolated NA Headquarters location was a drawback to holding meetings, unless the attendees require the glamor and diversions of the big city.

Blaming the Jews for the deterioration of White society and culture: I agree with you that the majority of Americans will dismiss claims that "The Jews" as a tribe are the enemy of White people, even though it's true. Also, I agree with you that bringing up historical Jewish treachery and crimes against White nations has no impact on the public. Instead, we ought to stick to the present and expose the individual Jews responsible for the social rot afflicting Whites today, i.e. flooding America with third world non-Whites, pervasive race-mixing in media, pornography, hiding the extent of horrific Black violence against Whites, militant feminism, etc. I believe more and more Whites are waking up to these realities and are mad about it. A growing number of our people are starting to figure out that diversity = White genocide. We're not quite to the point where enough Whites realize they cannot coexist indefinitely with non-Whites, especially Blacks, as equals and expect a healthy functioning nation, but we are getting there.

Actually, violent Black behavior and economic collapse(thanks to the Jews for both situations) might trigger an all out race war. There are enough guns in the hands of the public to support this scenario. When the war is concluded, a new White American homeland might be created.

American culture and identity: I am of German, Irish, and maybe French ancestry, but I never felt any special affinity with my European nations of origin, except that we are all civilized White people. Growing up, I always recognized a distinct and unique White American culture. When I was a young man, I identified myself as an American and recognized my friends and neighbors as clearly American...My roots are forever American, even if the America I grew up in is slipping away...I was stationed in Germany with the U.S. Army in the 1960's. Even though I liked the German people and admired Germany, I always felt I was in a foreign country. I would not have been totally comfortable living permanently in any foreign country, including Europe, because I would have missed America too much, Today, I may be changing my mind on this subject.

My point is I don't agree that America is merely a geographical location on the map where White American youth cannot relate to an American culture, traditions, or proud history. While ethnic cultural festivals are wholesome fun and participation should be encouraged, festivals are not a substitute for instilling a sense of pride for the America our White forefathers built. Also, most White Americans are a mixture of European peoples. Concentrating on one particular European ethnic identity might tend to balkanize White American youth at the expense of commonality with other Whites. European nations have been squabbling for centuries sometimes resulting in terrible White versus White wars. Our common bond is belonging to the White race.

I realize public schools and many private schools indoctrinate our kids with Jewish garbage. Our answer to this I believe is home-schooling. NA should research home-schooling programs in different parts of the country and publish its findings. This information could serve as a guide for White parents that are financially able to remove their children from the Black violence and multicultural indoctrination found in public schools.

...These clowns that dress up like Hollywood Nazis and strut around shocking and antagonizing people are a detriment... I believe German National-Socialism was the last defense against Jewish Communism. I also believe the German people fought bravely and tenaciously against overwhelming odds in WWII. In the end, the German people were victims of the worst atrocities and war crimes committed by the so-called Allies... Alas, the victors write the history books and after almost 70 years of Jewish Holocaust horsesh—propaganda, the American people are convinced the National-Socialists were racist monsters. Some day the truth will come out, but not in my lifetime.

Finally, I don't think the "New Direction" or what's left of the NA will accomplish much. The content of the BULLETIN has been reduced to a calendar of ethnic festivals across the country which most members cannot attend, plus one or two columns defending the New Direction. The NA shell that is left appears to be nothing more than a White social club headquartered in Cleveland, Ohio. There are other White nationalist groups that are still actively fighting the good fight and that are more aligned with my views and beliefs than is the current NA, and therefore more deserving of my limited contributions. The NA's motives and goals are righteous and are the same as mine; it's the NA's new path and direction I take issue with.

Jim, Arizona

Chairman Williams responds: I inherited a folder full of unanswered members' letters expressing similar sentiments, but Jim's struck me as the most eloquent; plus, it resonated with my own feelings about former Chairman Gliebe's "New Direction," so I judged it worthy of sharing with other members and supporters.

I wrote to Jim and mailed him our premier BULLETIN, hoping he'd see that our Alliance is in fact heading back in the direction it was aimed by Dr. Pierce — and embodying the same ideology it did when he first joined us back in 1996. I was very pleased when Jim replied, writing "I am encouraged that you have taken over as Chairman and are changing back to Dr. Pierce's original purpose and intentions," and asking to be reinstated as a member of the National Alliance.

REMINDER

Please always return your yellow-colored dues statement with your payments and legibly write any change of address, or any other instructions of which the National Office should be made aware, on it (or on a separate note). Also let us know if you have, and want to keep, your original membership number and membership card. Do not make checks or money orders out to Will Williams or Kevin Strom, but to the National Alliance. Dues noted with this issue of the BULLETIN reflect the new $20 per month minimum, which began January 1st, 2015.
